Charles River Apparel Latitude Jacket

$59

(http://www.amazon.com/dp/B00W42SIPA/ref=twister_B00W42SIPA)

This lightweight, water-resistant jacket is my go-to for chilly or rainy outdoor workouts. Anyone who knows me would categorize my personal style as athleisure (an excuse to wear leggings to work? Yes please!) so I wear activewear every single day. If there's someone in your life who rocks the athleisure look on the regular they'll love this jacket. I throw it on over my favorite sheer //OUT Incorporated (<http://blog.spaweeek.com/2015/11/25/6-fashionable-pieces-of-activewear-you-need-now-out-incorporated/>) top paired with chic yoga (<http://blog.spaweeek.com/2015/10/20/best-fall-workout-leggings-for-every-budget/>) pants and wedge sneaks for a cool, laid-back look.

Dr.Dennis Gross Antioxidant Cleansing
Wipes with AHAs

$18 (<http://drdennisingross.com/what-s-new/antioxidant-cleansing-cloths.html>)

There's nothing worse than getting to the gym and realizing your option for makeup removal is to use their less-than-stellar, highly abrasive towels. It's either that or sweating in makeup — both horrible skincare options! Enter Dr. Dennis Gross Antioxidant Cleansing Wipes with AHAs. These wipes are my absolute favorite for a few reasons. One is that they're formulated with BHAs and AHAs, two ingredients that smooth skin while actively working to give it a gorgeous glow. Another is that they are moist enough to completely clear my face of all makeup, a rarity when it comes to face wipes, and trust me I have tried quite a few. Anyone who loves to work out and also happens to be a skincare nerd would be grateful to have these in their gym locker this holiday season.
